IV. 阅读理解 (共 15 小题; 每小题 2 分, 满分 30 分)

阅读下面短文, 从所给的四个选项中选出一个最佳答案。

Once a king got two nice falcons from his son. He had never seen such beautiful falcons before. He loved them so much and he ordered the best falconer (训练猎鹰者) to train them to fly.

After several months, the king came to see how the training was going on. He found that one falcon had already been able to fly high in the sky, while the other was staying on the branch (树枝) of a tree quietly, just keeping still. The king called all his falconers together and ordered them to try every way they could to make the other falcon fly. But none of them succeeded.

One day, while the king was taking a walk in the forest, an idea came to his mind. Maybe someone who knew the natural environment well could solve this problem. He sent for a farmer who lived in the forest into his palace to train it at once.

The next morning, the king saw the other falcon flying above in the sky freely. "It is unbelievable!" shouted the king. "How could you make it happen?"

The farmer replied, "It's very easy. I just cut off the branch where the falcon rested."

It is always the same to human beings. We all have "two flying wings" in our hearts as well, but we often seem not to notice them and stay where we are just for safety and comfort.

We won't realize we can fly so high and freely until the "branch" we are resting on breaks.

53. Who finally made the other falcon fly in the sky?

54. What does the underlined (划线的) word "unbelievable" mean in Chinese?

When doing his math homework, Nick, 14, from Jiangsu, met a problem. He couldn't work it out. So he took out his cell phone, opened a special app and searched the problem. Answers soon appeared on the screen.

Nowadays, many students do homework with the help of the Internet like Nick. They search information online, use apps or discuss through social networks like QQ and WeChat.

"It's convenient (方便的). You don't have to wait or get a tutor (家庭教师) on the spot," Lu said. "You also learn by seeing how others work them out."

"It also improves students' abilities", said Ethan, 15, from Shanghai. And it's especially true for new types of homework.

Ethan's Chinese teacher often asks students to give lectures (讲座) on great authors. When it comes to Ethan's turn, she usually searches online, picks out certain stories and makes PowerPoint presentations (幻灯片展示).

"I've become adept (熟练的) at finding information online and using Microsoft Office," Ethan said. However, this trend (趋势) also brings up problems. Some students just copy the answers online without thinking. They will become lazy. Huang Pengxiang, a head teacher from Shanxi said that knowing how to use the Internet is important. The key is to have good self-control.

Students get a taste of the adult world

For some teenagers, being an adult is the coolest thing in the world. Adults don't do homework or take exams. They do what they like and earn money. How wonderful! But is it true?

Last month, Grade 7 students at No.1 Middle School in Wuxi, Jiangsu, had a taste of the adult world. Their teacher gave them the homework called "Working with your parents for one day". What did they find?

Wu Jing's mother works as a ticket collector in a park. At 6:00 a. m., the 14-year-old girl went to work with her mother. It was dark and cold. Before the park opened, they did the cleaning, checked tickets and counted change. When the visitors came, they greeted them politely. After standing for the whole day, Wu was tired out.

"Every day Mom makes dinner for me and I take it for granted (认为理所当然), said Wu. Now I know how tired she must be, I should help her more."

Li Shiyi, 14, spent her day in a car. Her father is a taxi driver. She picked up call and gave change back. Li thought it'd be easy to sit in a car and tour the city. But soon she found that her father didn't even have time for lunch.
