In the United States, turning 18 is a milestone in one's life. At this age, you can vote and join the army. You can also buy a gun, like the one used by 19-year-old Nikolas Cruz to attack (攻击) a school in Florida on February 14, 2018. He killed 17 people with the gun. He wasn't old enough to buy alcohol (酒), which is not legal until 21, but he was able to buy a gun.

The shooting in Florida has raised many questions about gun control. This shooting really hit home for me when I realized that it had happened in the same school area where my older sisters live. Their children had to hide in a closet (衣橱) in their school while police searched for Cruz. It is impossible for me to imagine the fear they felt during those hours.

According to our Constitution (宪法), people in the US have the right to have guns. It's an idea that dates back to the founding of the country. We used guns to fight against the British and found our own country. But more than 200 years later, thousands of people are dying each year at the hands of murderers like Cruz because of our gun laws.

Now, opinions towards gun control are changing. On March 24, teens from across the country will go to Washington, DC to take part in the event "March For Our Lives". They will ask our government to make stricter gun laws—for example, making it harder for people to buy some types of guns. I can't say if it will be enough to change the situation, but one can always hope.

61. People in the USA are allowed to buy a gun at the age of _____.

A. 16

B. 18

C. 19

D. 21

62. The shooting in Florida hit home for the writer because _____.

A. he was at home when it happened

B. shootings happen so often in schools

C. it's terrible children to experience this

D. his sisters live in the school area where it happened

63. The underlined word murderers might mean _____ in Chinese.

A. 杀人犯

B. 抢劫犯

C. 成年人

D. 精神病人

64. The purpose of the March event is to _____.

A. stop shootings in schools

B. stop people from buying guns

C. ask for stricter gun control laws

D. change people's opinions towards guns

65. The passage above is _____.

A. a notice

B. an interview

C. a news report

D. a news review

配对阅读 左栏是五个学生遇到的问题。右栏是七则建议。请将这五个人的问题与相对应的建议配对。其中两项多余。

66. My friend and I recorded a song in a studio. The workers there liked my voice. They wanted me to make an album. I'm busy with my schoolwork, so I refused. But later they helped my friend make her own album. I feel a little jealous (嫉妒的). What should I do?

67. I'm 15 years old now, but my parents still treat me like a little kid. They don't allow me to go out alone or buy things that they don't like. They are too strict with me. What should I do?

68. I'm in Grade 9 now. Recently, my life has become harder. Every weekend, I have to study all the time. Sometimes I feel like my life is meaningless. What should I do?

69. I don't know how to talk with my classmates because we do not share the same interests. We don't have anything to talk about. What should I do?

70. I have much homework to do every day, but I am fascinated by my idol Wang Yuan. I keep thinking about him when I study. What should I do?

A. To make friends, you must first be friendly. Smile and say hello, even to people who are not your friends. Second, find out what interests them. Talk about that, even if it doesn't interest you.

B. It is important to make some time for your hobbies. That's what makes days a little bit more fun. Try to make a weekly-study plan that should help you make better use of your time.

C. You might think that you're just as independent as an adult (成人). But you're not. If you want your parents to respect your independence, you have to do well in school and at home. Show your parents that you have grown up.

D. Have you read The Diary of Anne Frank? She went through many difficulties during the World War II. But keeping a diary helped her face the hard life. I encourage you to read her diary and write your own. Remind yourself that everything happens for a reason, even schoolwork.

E. In this life, there will always be someone better than you. But don't be jealous when they succeed. Instead, celebrate with them. Finally, keep making music for fun, not for fame, and you will succeed, too.

F. Children and parents often have trouble understanding each other. When that happens, try to be calm and not argue. Instead, think about what your parents want you to do and why.

G. It sounds like you're getting distracted (分心的) easily. Tell yourself that you will work hard for an hour without doing other things. Once that hour is over, take a 10-minute break. Then you can get back to work for another hour and do it again.

五、短文填空。(本大题有 10 小题, 每小题 1.5 分, 共 15 分)

请用适当的词完成下面的短文, 并把所缺单词写在空格处。每个空只能填写一个形式正确、意义相符的单词。

This month, I volunteered at the Color Run in Melbourne, Australia. (71) But I didn't have as much fun as the runners, I still learned an important lesson.

My job was to give a high-five to every runner at the finish line. (72) Though the beginning, we saw it as a simple task. When the first runner passed, we reached out our hands and yelled "Give a high-five!" excitedly. However, as more and more people crossed the finish line and touched their hands with (74) job, my arm got sore. To make things worse, it became hotter. Our clothes were all (75) wet because of the sweat (汗) and we felt tired. But soon we saw a group of kids (76) with towards us - they were about 6 years old. I could see that they could hardly catch their breath, but they still kept going with big smiles on their (77) faces. They put up their (78) hands and said, "High-five!"

At that moment, I was quite touched - they were so young, and they refused to (79) put up. I clapped their hands, "Well done, little guys!"

That is the meaning of being a volunteer. It is never (80) a easy job. However, we meet different people and see the spirit that moves them. Even if such spirit is not often found in daily life, it can encourage us a lot when we do see it.

六、读写综合 (本大题分为 A、B 两部分, 共 20 分)

A. 信息归纳。(共 5 小题, 每小题 1 分, 共 5 分)

请阅读下面这篇文章, 根据所提供的信息, 完成下面的信息卡。

Do you think you always have too much work to do after school? If you do, here is some good news for you.

On March 5, during the first meeting of the 13th National People's Congress (NPC, 全国人民代表大会), Premier Li Keqiang gave this year's Government Work Report. Education is an important part of the report.

"We will give attention to solving the problem of heavy after-school burdens (负担) on primary and secondary school students," Li said during his speech.

These days, many Chinese parents send their children to after-school classes even if they cost a lot. According to a recent report, China had about 180 million school-aged students in 2016 and more than 137 million of them took part in after-school classes.

The quality of education and teaching methods are not good in many training schools. To deal with this problem, the Ministry of Education (教育部) and three other ministries released guidelines on February 26 that call for taking actions.

They're going to focus on private training schools that bring students too much work and pressure. They also plan to check training schools which have no professional qualifications (资格) or cause safety risks.

Many people think it is a must-do task for children to study happily and grow in a healthy manner. It's also important for younger students to have enough sleep, about ten hours for primary school students and at least eight hours for middle school students every night.

Information Card

The date of the first meeting of NPC	81	The 13th March
The people who have the problem of heavy after-school burdens	82	Li Keqiang
The number of students who took part in after-school classes in 2016	83	180 million
The things that are not good in many training schools	84	The quality of education and teaching methods
