Everyone wants to be successful. But failure is a common(普通的) thing for us to meet with. 51, sometimes we fail the exams, sometimes in the sports meet, others 52 but we fail. So 53 everybody meets with the failure in his life.

However, different people have different 54 to deal with the failure. Some people lose hope when they fail. They seem to think that it is the 55 of the world. Others, on the other hand, don't take failure 56. They seem to think that failure is the first step(步骤) to success. They will keep up and try their best 57 the final success.

Now let's imagine(猜想) the ends of the two ways. If we are afraid of the failure and always feel 58, and don't try our best to change ourselves, we may meet with more and more failures. But as long as we are hopeful and brave to face them, and never give up, we will 59 successful and our dreams will come true some day.

So, please remember: Life doesn't give us the pleasure we want. But if we never give up and 60 do little by little, it will make a big difference.

IV. 阅读理解。(30)

Do you want to make friends with others? Please remember to keep your words all the time. In this way, people around you will get along well with you.

To make friends and keep them, you have to keep your words. If you agree to meet someone at a certain time, you should arrive at the place on time or a little earlier. If you agree to help others, you must do it. Of course if there is something unexpected(没有预料到的) happening and you can't do what you have agreed to do, your friends will understand this.

He is always lying or making excuses for breaking his words. Would you like to have him as one of your best friends? You wouldn't. And your own friends feel the same way.

So, be more careful when you have to agree to do something for your friends. Don't have "Maybe" in your mind when you say something about what you are going to do.

根据短文内容，选择最佳答案。

- () 61. The underlined phrase keep one's words means _____ in Chinese.

A. 记住单词 B. 记录语言 C. 保存语言 D. 信守诺言

C. there is something unexpected happening D. they are late

- () 64. Who can be your best friend?
A. He is always being late. B. He is always lying.
C. He is always breaking his words. D. He is always keeping.

- () 65. We can know that _____ from the passage.
A. we shouldn't agree to help others B. we should be ready to help others
C. it's difficult to make friends
D. we should keep our words when we make friends

(B)

I used to be an active girl. But two years ago, an English speaking competition held in my school changed me a lot.

I stood on the stage(讲台) for the first time. I was so nervous that my brain(大脑) suddenly became empty. Not long after I began my speech, the hall turned noisy. It seemed that they were laughing at me. I knew I failed.

From then on, I became quiet and always stayed alone. I didn't want to express my ideas in public, even in class. Every time I wanted to say something, I thought people would laugh at me. My friends couldn't understand me, and they left me, one by one.

One day, my science teacher asked us why trees in forests were much taller than those in the wild. "Ha, what a silly question!" I thought.

"There's not enough space in the woods for trees to expand their branches. Of course they have to grow taller than others. The trees in the wild needn't do that since there's enough space." I said in a low voice.

To my surprise, the teacher said, "Yes, you're right. It is a competition." My face turned red right now. I hadn't spoken for a long time, especially in public.

Then the teacher explained how trees in forests had to grow taller to receive more sunlight. If not, they would die. This also happened in our society.

What's more, the tree that doesn't live in a crowd is just like a person who has no friends in life.

I raised my head slowly and found the teacher was looking at me. His eyes were as warm as sunshine. I realized that I must stand up and face the truth.
