That night, when I lay in bed, my husband said to me, "You were so rude to Betty. Go and look around on the kitchen floor, and you'll find some flowers there. Betty brought those for you. She 39 them herself--- pink, yellow, and your favorite 40."

When I heard this, I thought deeply: When I met with a stranger, I was calm and polite; but with my daughter, I was not patient. I felt sad and tears began to fall.

I quietly went to Betty's bed, "41, my dear," I said, "Are these the flowers you picked for me?" She smiled, "I found them by the tree. I knew you'd like them, especially the blue," I said, "I am sorry that I 42 them today----and I shouldn't have 43 you that way." And she whispered, "Mommy, that's OK --- I still love you anyway." I kissed her and said, "I love you too and I do love the flowers."

That day Betty gave me a lesson how to get along with each other in the family. I spent much time on work before and didn't realize how important family life was. I decided to do better in the future.

Perhaps you've already watched or heard about Readers (朗读者), a TV show that has recently become very popular. It invites different people to read aloud on the stage (舞台), as well as tell the touching stories behind them. They can read everything, like poems, books, and letters.

Many people are fans of the show and begin to enjoy reading aloud at home. Now the show gives people a special place to read across China.

Reading pavilions (亭子) are now in cities like Shanghai, Hangzhou and Xi'an.

The pavilion is quite small. Only one person can come into it each time. There is a microphone (麦克风) in it and it records people's voices. Everyone can read anything they like for three minutes in the pavilion. The show will later pick some of the readers and invite them to read on TV.

People of all ages have come and read in the pavilion, according to People's Daily. "Reading should be just like singing and talking", said Dong Qing, the host (主持人) of the show. "We can actually express our deep feelings through reading aloud."

Both the TV show and the pavilion are promoting (推动) reading among the public, reported China Youth Daily. In fact, this is also what our country is trying to do now. During the two sessions (两会) this month, deputy (人大代表) Lu Yaping suggested that a national reading day should be set up. This received support from many other deputies.

47. Readers in the first paragraph is a (n) _____.
- A. e-magazine                      B. programme                      C. novel                      D. e-book
48. What is the Chinese meaning for the word "express" in Paragraph 5?
- A. 显露                      B. 泄漏                      C. 快速邮递                      D. 表达
49. What the writer actually means is _____.
- A. we should promote reading all over China
- B. we must build more reading pavilions in different cities for people of all ages to go to
- C. he agrees to set up a Reading Day for people of all ages to have fun
- D. it is impossible to make the public to read books as they are not interested in TV programmes

(C)

As teenagers, you have many dreams. These dreams can be very big, like winning the Nobel Prize, or they can be small. You may just want to become one of the ten best students in your class.

Once(一旦) you find a dream, what do you do with it? Do you ever try to make your dream real?

"Follow Your Heart" by Australian writer Andrew Mathews tells us that making our dreams real is life's biggest challenge.

You may think you're not very good at some school subjects, or that it is impossible for you to become a writer. These kinds of thoughts(想法) stop you from getting your dream, the book says.

In fact, everyone can make his dream come true. The first thing you must do is to remember what your dream is.

Don't let it leave your heart. Keep telling yourself what you want. Do this step by step(一步一步地) and your dream will come true faster because a big dream is, in fact, many small dreams.

You must also never give up your dream.

There will be difficulties on the road to your dreams. But the biggest difficulty comes from yourself. You need to decide what is the most important. Studying instead of watching TV will bring you better exam results, while saving five yuan instead of buying an ice cream means you can buy a new book. As you get closer to your dream, it may change a little. This is good as you have the chance to learn more skills(技能) and find new interests.

50. "Follow Your Heart" is _____.

- A. The first thing you must do to make your dream real

- A. remember what your dream is first
- B. keep telling yourself what you want
- C. never be afraid of the big difficulties
- D. try to start with all the things above

52. What should NOT you do to make your dream come true?

- A. Always remember what your dream is.
- B. Do what you should do step by step.
- C. Watch TV to get better exam results.
- D. Read more books, learn more skills and find new interests.

53. What is the best title of the text?

- A. Keep your dream in your mind.
- B. How to find your real dream.
- C. Make your dream real.
- D. Teenagers have many dreams.

Have you ever asked your relatives or friends if there is Wi-Fi in their houses? Have you ever searches for Wi-Fi when you are at restaurants or hotels? The answers will probably be "Yes". Most of us want Wi-Fi everywhere as if we can't live without it. But we can only use free Wi-Fi in some public places. We still have to spend some money accessing(连接) the Internet at most time. Here comes a piece of good news.

A rich, powerful organization in the USA called the Media Development Investment Fund(MDIF) decided to change the age of online computing(计算) completely by giving free Wi-Fi to every person on Earth. They will send up hundreds of satellites into low Earth orbit(轨道) in 2015.

This is because they have made a survey and found that only 60% of the world's population(人口) have been able to get information on the Internet. And this is also because many countries are unable to offer people the necessary infrastructure(基础设施) to access the web. We can expect to use free Wi-Fi everywhere in the near future.

Present situation	Many of us want Wi-Fi everywhere as if we can't live without it. Accessing the Internet 1 us some money.
