want to build a factory. It also doesn't matter if it grows grass well.

Each area attracts people based on their interests and purposes. Areas that support many different interests will naturally have larger populations. You may not think of the mountains, lakes or oceans as natural resources. In fact they are. Villages and cities built near water sources have been the most successful. People who want to catch fish for a living choose to live by the ocean, instead of the desert. People living near water can use it to meet their daily needs.

Places that are difficult to reach will naturally have fewer people. Places that are high on mountain tops are not very desirable to most people. Neither are places that are in the middle of hot, dry deserts.

For too long, humans have destroyed resources. We have been using up those that can't be easily replaced. Renewable(可再生的) resources are those that can be replaced easily. We are lucky to have many resources that are renewable, such as the sun, wind, water and trees. We need to use more renewable resources. This will protect our planet.

()26. Areas with very rich soil can be used as_____.

A. fishing places B. ranching places C. a factory D. farming communities

()27. What does the third paragraph mainly tell us?

A. What people living near water live on except fishing.
B. How big villages and cities by the oceans come out.
C. People choose places to live according to interests and purposes.
D. People don't live in places that are difficult to reach.

()28. Which of the following does NOT belong to natural resources?

A. Animals that could be caught. B. Beds, tables and chairs.
C. The mountains, lakes or oceans. D. Materials for building houses.

()29. What is the best title for the passage?

A. The natural resources. B. An area's weather.
C. How to choose your house. D. Renewable resources.

()30. This passage may come from_____.

A. a story B. a fashion magazine C. a school report D. a cartoon film

C

Note-taking is a skill that can help you do well in all your schoolwork. It can make you confident (自信的) when you are studying. 36.

If your teacher writes notes on the blackboard, that's great. You can copy them or write down the most important facts of all in class. 37. For example, some teachers may focus on lots of dates and facts in class, but they only write the important ones on the blackboard. Other teachers may not write anything down, but they may repeat them.

Don't try to write down every word in class. 38. Some students really learn better with the help of these notes.

39. If your teacher speaks too fast and you can't follow what he is saying, you can ask him after class.

Comparing your notes with your classmates' can be good for your learning. 40.

Note-taking also needs organization. Keep notes for each subject in one place, so that you can find everything easily when a test comes.

- A. It can also help you and your classmates correct some mistakes.
- B. However, most students don't know how to take notes.
- C. Don't be afraid to ask your teacher to repeat what you've missed.
- D. It isn't interesting but you may find it very useful.
- E. Or you might miss some important points.
