My mom and I were waiting for my new sister on Friday. And my father had gone to 31 the girl. A week ago, my parents told me that they had 32 to adopt (收养) a girl. At first, I didn't understand them when I heard the news. But after my mom told me about the girl's 33 life, I realized how bad she felt and what a hard time she was going through.

Her 34 unluckily died in an earthquake. Then she was adopted by some people who treated her 35. They didn't give her enough food or water. And she had to do all the chores in the house until one day she escaped to the forest. She was found and sent to a children's home. Luckily, she would be a new member of our 36. I decided to treat her like my true sister, because I knew she had been through a lot. We would be best friends and best sisters.

The door bell 37. I rushed to open the door. A girl with brown and long hair stood at the door quietly. She was 38 a pink dress.

"Hi, my name is Daniela, but you can 39 me Dani," I said.

"Hi, my name is Violet," she replied in a low 40.

"Want to go to my room?" I asked.

If you're climbing with a fat friend, your friend may say the mountains look 41 than what they really are. Is your friend lazy? In fact, this is just what the world 42 in his eyes. Scientists show that this is the fat people's wrong 43. They think distances (距离) are farther away than they really are.

In a study, scientists asked 66 people of different weights and sizes to say how 44 a traffic sign was. The sign was 25m away actually. Those who were about 57kg thought it was just 15m from them, but those who 45 about 146kg saw it was 30m away.

So, far from being lazy, fat people only see the world 46 when thinking about exercise. They're "carrying" their 47 weight.

"If you find yourself climbing with a heavy backpack, hills are going to 48 higher." Jessica Witt said.

In life, if you have to make a greater 49 to climb, and you're carrying a heavy backpack, the hill is going to look more challenging.

"You're not seeing that hill as it is. You're seeing the world through your ability to act. You have 50 ability because you're having to carry this backpack," Witt said.

Today, we are going to learn some big festivals in Japan.

Shogatsu (New Year)

Shogatsu, the Japanese New Year, starts on January 1st. Many people start it by eating soba (荞麦) noodles for good health. Buddhist temples (佛寺) will ring bells at midnight 108 times. People will prepare special food and give money to children in small envelopes.

Setsubun (The Bean-Throwing Festival)

It starts on February 3rd or 4th. People will have small events for this festival around the country, many in temples. Some will throw candies and money and others will try to catch the small gifts. At home, families have a habit of throwing beans to keep healthy.

Hanami (Cherry Blossom (樱花) Festival)

It lasts from March to May. People will celebrate it by singing songs, having traditional dance, etc.

Golden Week

It starts from the end of April to May 6th. It is the busiest time to travel in Japan. Many stores will close for at least a week. Temples and famous places in popular cities will become very busy.

B

I saw a young man work on the train every morning. He always sat alone and he never spoke to anyone.

About eight days ago, I saw he was on a video call with a friend through sign language (手语). After he finished the call, he didn't look very happy. I thought I should say something to him or just ask if he was okay, but I couldn't even start a talk with him. I felt bad.

From then on, I started to learn sign language from some videos online for a few hours after working.

This morning, I "said" hello to him for the first time. I found a shocking smile on his face. It made me feel all the late nights of learning were worthwhile. He quickly used sign language to show me "Thank you".

I didn't meet him on the train later and I talked with other people like him with sign language several times. I really thanked him for helping me become a friendlier person.

Though it has passed for long time, I remember it forever.

60. What did the young man do on the train about eight days ago?
A. He just sat there. B. He didn't speak to anyone.
C. He made a video call with his friend. D. He listened to music.

61. Why did the writer learn sign language?
 A. Because he hoped to talk to the young man in this way.
 B. Because he wanted to speak to more people.
 C. Because it was part of his job.
 D. Because he had much free time.
62. After the writer "said" hello to him for the first time, the young man felt _____.
 A. happy B. surprised C. serious D. interested
63. What is the best title for the passage?
 A. A Warm "Hello"
 B. A Special Job
 C. A Video Call
 D. A Friendly Smile

C

We live in a world where new inventions appear almost every day. We can imagine all kinds of things and dream of inventing them one day. Now I want to tell you about one thing that I want to invent.

I dream of inventing a time machine. I came up with the idea when I saw the film Back to the Future. But my time machine will look like a ball. I can sit inside it and travel to the past. I can see and hear about everything around the machine, but people outside it can't see me. It is very cool, isn't it?

Many people want to go back to the past and change some mistakes that were made at that time. I don't think it is good to do that, because our past is very important to us. It helps us a lot in life. So changing the past is not my aim of inventing the time machine. I just want to learn from the past. I want to go back to the past, and find out my mistakes. Instead of changing them, I want to remember them. In this way, I won't make similar mistakes anymore.

I wouldn't like to travel to the future, because I think the most important thing for us to do is to cherish today.

64. The writer got the idea of inventing a time machine _____.
 A. from a TV show B. from a novel
 C. from a film D. from a cartoon
65. The writer wants to invent the time machine to _____.
 A. change the past B. learn from the past
 C. find out all people's mistakes D. play with the people in the past
66. The underlined word "aim" means "_____" in Chinese.
 A. 目的 B. 故事 C. 理想 D. 未来
67. What can we learn from Paragraph 3?
 A. The writer doesn't want to make similar mistakes.
 B. Most people want to change the past with the time machine.
 C. The writer often makes similar mistakes.
 D. The mistakes we made in our past is not important to us.

D

There are several ways that can help you protect the Earth.

Use Reusable Bags

Whether you are shopping for food, clothes or books, use a reusable bag. This cuts down on litter and prevents animals from being hurt. There are even some stores that offer discounts (折扣) for using reusable bags!

These bags are not only useful for shopping. Some people use reusable bags when they move house!

Recycle

Recycling is such a simple thing to do, but many people don't do it. A good way to recycle is to look for recycling bins. Instead of throwing all the waste in the rubbish bins, try to find recycling bins around your school.

Save Electricity

Use energy-efficient light bulbs (节能灯泡) instead of common ones. They last longer, which will also save you some money.

Turn off lights, the TV and other appliances (电器) when you are not using them.

Lower your air conditioner when it's not necessary.

Save Water

Turn off the tap as you are brushing your teeth. Don't turn your shower on until you're ready to get in and wash your hair. Changing old habits will be good for both the environment and your wallet!

Avoid Taking Cars When Possible

Taking public transportation, walking or riding a bike to school are better choices that can help protect the environment. You can also get some exercise!

68. When we go shopping, we should use _____.
A. schoolbags B. reusable bags C. paper bags D. plastic bags
69. What is the difference between the energy-efficient bulbs and common bulbs?
A. Energy-efficient bulbs last longer. B. Energy-efficient bulbs are lighter.
C. Common bulbs are safer. D. Common bulbs are cheaper.
70. Which of the following is TRUE?
A. If you use reusable bags, you will get money.
B. Rubbish shouldn't be thrown into recycling bins.
C. Before washing your hair, you should prepare carefully.
D. Walking to school is good for the environment and your health.
71. How many ways are mentioned in the passage?
A. Three. B. Four. C. Five. D. Six.
72. What's the main idea of the passage?
A. The importance of protecting the environment.
B. Some ways to protect the Earth.
C. People's opinions on protecting the Earth.
D. Some advice about saving money in daily life.

In a countryside school, a little boy always came to school early to start fire to make the classroom warm every day. But one morning when everyone arrived, they found the school on fire. They found the badly hurt boy at once and carried him out quickly.

When the boy was lying in hospital, the doctor told his mother his lower body was burned seriously and he didn't have much hope of survival (存活). He didn't want to die. To the doctor's surprise, he did survive at last.

After some days, the doctor told his mother he could never walk. He didn't lose hope and decided to walk again. After he left the hospital, his mother tried her best to help him. One sunny day, he threw himself out of the wheelchair and tried hard to creep on the grass slowly. He did so every day. Finally, he stood up and walked successfully.

He made himself on the college track team later. He, Glenn Cunningham, ran the mile in

4:06.8 minutes and broke the world's record on June 16, 1934. Many people even didn't know he might not be able to survive. His mother tells a reporter, "In fact, all of you can create a wonder as long as you can put your heart into it."

Dear Peter,

I'm sorry to hear that you are so stressed out in your study. I'd like to offer some of my ways of reducing pressure with study.

I often join in some different after-school activities, including different clubs, such as reading, story-telling and volunteer and so on. It can make me forget my study. I also keep on playing sports. It's good for my health and my mind. It can help my brain relax and rest well. At the same time, I often listen to some light music. They can make a big difference to reduce my pressure. What's more, I sometimes ask my teachers or parents for help. They can always give me some useful ways.

I hope these can help you out of trouble.

Yours,

Li Hua
