Mr. Black was giving an English lesson to a class of students who had recently come to live in the United States. After placing quite a number of everyday objects on a table, he asked different members of the class to give him the ruler, the book, the pen and so on. The class went very smoothly and the students seemed interested and serious about the work that they were busy with until when Mr. Black turned to an Italian student and said, "Give me the keys." The man looked surprised and somewhat at a loss (不知所措). Seeing this, Mr. Black thought that the student hadn't heard him clearly, so he repeated. "Give me the keys." The Italian shrugged his shoulders (耸肩). Then, he threw his arms around the teacher's neck and kissed him on both cheeks.

46. According to the passage, Mr. Black is a _____.
 A. teacher B. student C. clerk D. scientist
47. From the passage we know that the students may come from _____.

Smile Train is a charity (慈善团体) that helps the millions of children around the world, who suffer from a facial defect (缺陷). The defect happens when a baby's top lip or mouth doesn't form properly before birth. Eating and drinking is very difficult for these babies. The charity provides free operations, which give these children a new smile, and with it, new hope and a new beginning.

Children with the defect need all the help. Although many sufferers are accepted by their families, sadly, others are not. In some countries, children with this defect are often abandoned at birth because their parents feel ashamed of them or cannot afford the operations. The good news is that the operation is not difficult. It takes less than an hour and costs the family nothing. The charity raises money and finds the right medical volunteers to perform the operations.

A Smile Train doctor from the UK said, "Each child who has the operation is given a second chance at life. After years of staying at home, the children can finally go to school and be happy. Every year I perform hundreds of operations free of cost through Smile Train. Some of the stories I have heard are quite surprising.

One newborn baby girl was found abandoned on a train. Luckily for her, she was found and adopted (收养) by a passenger. This lady then heard about Smile Train and brought the baby to our hospital. I did the operation and gave hope to the family. Experienced doctors like me share our skills with local doctors. In this way make sure that these operations will always be available."

51. Which is NOT TRUE about the operation?

- A. It costs nothing.
- B. The right medical volunteers perform it.
- C. The operation is easy.
- D. It takes many hours.

52. Smile Train is a charity which_____.

53. The underlined word "abandoned" in Paragraph 2 is closest in meaning to_____.

- A. given up
- B. dressed up
- C. called up
- D. brought up

54. What did the doctor from the UK think of his volunteer work?

- A. Dangerous
- B. Surprising
- C. Relaxing
- D. Valuable

55. It can be inferred from the passage that_____.

- A. children with the facial defect are becoming more ashamed than before.
- B. more doctors are trained to help children with the facial defect.
- C. fewer baby boys with the facial defect are operated on than girls.
- D. doctors in Smile Train are always well paid for doing the operations

Japan fixes English

You've probably seen some pretty "interesting" English translations. For example, it is common to see "Chinglish" on restaurant menus and on signs in public areas in China.

Japan is now working to improve its English signs so that tourists will have an easier time getting around during the 2020 Olympics.

Improving public transportation signs is especially important, as tourists will take trains and buses to get around. The Japan Tourism Agency recently carried out a two-month investigation into the websites of 85 train and bus companies around the country.

The agency found some rather odd translations. For example, one transportation company refers to children as "dwarfs(侏儒)". Other transportation errors include "Forgotten Center" for "lost and found", and "release place" for "ticket machine".

But does Japan have enough time to correct its English? One expert thinks it's too late. Gregory Hadley, a professor at Niigata University, thinks it can't be done. He pointed out that many companies simply won't be able to afford to hire translators and reprint their materials.

In addition, the people who originally translated the materials probably won't want to lose face by admitting to translating them correctly, he added.

Whether it can fix its signs or not, Japan is preparing for a wave of tourism. About 30 million people visited the country last year and the number will hit 40 million next year, when the 2020 Olympics officially kick off.

56. In Japan, which of the following is the most important to improve before the 2020 Olympics?

- A. Restaurant menus. B. Tourist information centers.
C. Public transportation signs. D. Public restroom signs.
57. A “Forgotten Center” probably refers to “_____” in Japan.
A. dwarfs B. a lost and found area C. a ticket machine D. a youth hostel
58. What is Gregory Hadley’s opinion about Japan’s English signage situation?
A. There are too many simple transportations in Japan.
B. Improving signs in public areas is important.
C. Changing incorrect signs makes companies lose face.
D. Japan won’t be able to finish correcting its English in all public areas.
59. Compared to last year, the number of people who visit Japan will increase by _____ next year.
A. 10 million. B. 20 million. C. 30 million. D. 40 million.
60. What does the underlined phrase “kick off” mean in Chinese?
A. 踢开 B. 爆发 C. 开始 D. 反冲

D

We know the mosquito very well. Mosquitoes fly everywhere. They can be found almost all over the world, and there are more than 2,500 kinds of them.

No one likes the mosquito. But the mosquito may decide that she loves you. She? Yes, she. It’s true that male mosquito doesn’t bite(咬) and only the female mosquito bites because she needs blood to lay eggs. She is always looking for things or people she wants to bite. If she likes what she finds, she bites. But if she doesn’t like your blood, she will turn to someone else for more delicious blood. Next time a mosquito bites you, just remember you are chosen. You’re different from the others!

If the mosquito likes you, she lands on your body without letting you know. She bites you so quickly and quietly that you may not feel anything different. After she bites, you will have an itch(痒) on your body because she puts something from her mouth together with your blood. By the time the itching begins, and she has flown away.

And then what happens? Well, after her delicious dinner, the mosquito feels tired. She just wants to find a place to have a good rest. There, on a leaf or a wall, she begins to lay eggs, hundreds of eggs.

61. “Mosquito” means _____ in Chinese.
A. 苍蝇 B. 蜻蜓 C. 跳蚤 D. 蚊子
62. We know mosquitoes very well because _____.
A. they fly here and there B. they bite us
C. there are many kinds of them D. they can fly
63. If the mosquito doesn’t bite you, it will _____.
A. get angry with you B. be afraid of you C. make a lot of noise D. choose another one
64. The mosquito bites you _____.
A. when you’re asleep B. because you have choose it
C. too quickly to let you know D. but doesn’t like you
65. Which of the following sentences is wrong?
A. The itching begins after the mosquito bites you.
B. You feel terrible when the mosquito bites you.
C. Mosquitoes use blood to lay eggs.
D. Not all the mosquitoes like to bite people for blood.
