III. 完形填空 (每小题 1.5 分, 满分 15 分)

Doctors are always giving suggestions. For example, they suggest that people pay attention to keeping bugs (虫子) from getting into 36 ears, especially in warm places, like Guangdong Province. But some never pay 37 attention.

Last month, Mr Lv, aged 24, felt something wrong with his right ear. He felt a great pain in his ear, and felt like something was running in his ear. 38 the young man went to the hospital. He asked Dr Zhong to 39 the pain.

Dr Zhong, an ear-nose-and-throat (ENT) doctor at the hospital,
40 his ear and found a full-grown bug and over 10 of its babies. In other words, Mr Lv had a whole 41 of bugs living in his ear!

Knowing the bugs had 42 over his ear, Mr Lv was frightened. He told Dr Zhong that one of his family members had shone some light in his ear and had found a bug 43 . He added that he had the habit of leaving food by his 44 at night, which might attract (吸引) the bugs. One of them might have considered the man' s ear a wonderful 45 and got inside to lay eggs.

Upon discovering why the man's ear hurt, Dr. Zhong managed to get out the bugs. But the bugs had caused some injuries to Mr Lv's ear.

IV. 阅读理解(共两节、满分 45 分)

第一节 阅读下面 A、B、C、D 四篇短文，根据短文内容，从题中所给 A、B、C、D 四个选项中，选出最佳答案。(每小题 2 分，满分 40 分)

(A)

Recently, I was invited to watch my students' cross-country meet (越野赛). At first, I didn't know if I should go because I was not a sports fan of any kind and my job had nothing to do with sports. Although many people might say they wouldn't exactly consider the cross-country a sport, I would disagree. The cross-country beginners have to work out and exercise just like you do for any other sports.

I never knew how much fun I would have watching a group of my students run for fun. Whether they ran fast or slow, they still tried their best to complete the game. They kept going no matter how tired they were.

It was wonderful to see how encouraging the audience (观众) was to runners everywhere. It wasn't just their runners that they would cheer for. It was all runners, fast or slow. When the kids heard the audience cheering them on, or even just clapping (鼓掌) to encourage them, they would run faster and faster in search of the finish line; it was just so cool to watch.

I am proud of each one of my students who ran yesterday. They did a wonderful job. I surely want to support cross-country meet later. I'm not talking about coaching it or anything like that, but just to support them by going to their meets.

()46. What is the writer?

- A. A coach. B. A runner.
C. A sports reporter. D. A teacher.

()47. Before the cross-country meet, the writer ____.

- A. never took part in sports
B. was not a lover of sports
C. was good at running very much
D. wanted to be a good runner

()48. Which of the following is TRUE?

- A. The audience paid more attention to competitors who ran fast.
B. The writer's encouragement made all the students believe in themselves.
C. The audience's cheering played an important role in encouraging runners.
D. The coming of the writer cheered up all the runners on the sports field.

()49. What can we learn from the passage?

- A. The cross-country is a great challenge for students.
B. The writer thinks her students performed very well.
C. More students should take part in the cross-country.
D. The writer found she had a great talent for sports.

()50. The writer decides to support cross-country meets by ____.

- A. watching the meets
B. guiding the runners
C. running together with others
D. giving gifts to runners

(B)

Radboud University in Dutch dug a hole in the ground, which is called "purification grave (净化坟墓)". It is an invitation to think about what is really important in life. First dug in 2009, the grave was part of a two-year project. However, it made a comeback this year. Signing up (报名) to lie in the several-foot-deep hole for 30 minutes to three hours, every student at the university as well as those at the neighboring university may have a try. To make them pay full attention to things around and themselves, they mustn't take phones or books with them in the grave.

"We dug another grave in the garden," said Radboud University. "You can decide for yourself how long you want to do this. Telephones and books in the grave are prohibited. It is a place for meditation (冥想). Under you the earth; above you the sky. See what goes through your mind. If you don't want to lie in the grave, you can also sit near it."

39 people took part in the 2009 project, but ever since the grave was dug in June, 2019, tens of people have already tried it. Every week, a few people use the grave.

Many people head to the Takhini Hot Springs in Yukon, Canada to take part in the International Hair Freezing Contest (国际头发冰冻比赛) in winter. The event usually runs for the whole month of February which is traditionally the coldest time of the year in Yukon. It is below 4 oF(-20℃). The purpose of the contest is to create the most creative frozen hairstyle possible.

After checking in, you are led to the natural hot springs, which has a temperature of 104 oF(40℃). Thanks to the cold air, only putting the head into the water is enough to freeze hair.

You can also sit in the hot springs and allow the steam to gradually get on your head while the cold air freezes your hair. After the hair is frozen and molded (成型) (when possible), you take pictures. The hot springs officials collect all the pictures during the contest and in mid to late March the top three pictures are chosen.

People must agree to give all rights of their pictures to the hot springs officials. The contest also offers some great prizes.

1st place: $750 and a free 30-time soak (浸泡) membership at the hot springs.

2nd place: $200 and a free 12-time soak pass.

3rd place: $100 and a free 3-day pass.

The contest started in 2011. Now it has become hugely popular and draws lots of people from all over the world.

() 56. Who will be the winner of the contest?

A. Jim, who freezes his hair in the most creative shape.

B. Sam, who stays in the cold air for the longest time.

C. Tom, who swims fastest in the water.

Pizza Hut has created a new way to get your favorite pie to you: through your shoes — Pie Tops II. Pie Tops I received so much popularity that Pizza Hut makes them available for sale, in more colors and more sizes than Pie Tops I.

I bought a pair of Pie Tops II and successfully ordered pizzas. It's really cool and easy. Here's something I did not expect when first wearing a pair of Pie Tops II: They are comfortable. Walking around in Pie Tops is perfectly fine.

There is a Pie Tops II app where users pair the shoes through Bluetooth. Users need a Pizza Hut account (账户) to place orders. Unluckily, you can't order everything as you like, because it only accepts orders of Pizza Hut's two medium pizzas for $5.99 each. To avoid the accidental pizza order, once you press, a message appears on your phone to tell you to make sure.

The Pie Tops II goes on sale for $150 on HBX.com. It is clearly a marketing stunt (营销噱头). Experts say the main goal here is to draw attention to Pizza Hut. Really, your interest in this not-very-serious product should come down to how deep your love is for Pizza Hut. Do you REALLY love their pizzas so much that you will always wear these shoes just to make it possible to order pizzas at any time with them? Then, sure, go ahead and splurge (挥霍). If you do not, then go on ordering pizzas by phone.

() 61. What can we know about Pizza Hut's special shoes?

A. People treated Pie Tops I coldly.

B. Pie Tops I drew enough attention.

C. Pie Tops II shoes are larger than Pie Tops I shoes.

D. Pie Tops I shoes are unavailable for sale.

() 62. How does the writer feel after using Pie Tops II shoes?

- A. Disappointed. B. Uncertain.
C. Satisfied. D. Strict.

()63. Which sentence shows people are limited (限制) when ordering through Pie Tops II shoes?

- A. They cannot choose from Pizza Hut's full menu.
B. The Pie Tops II app must be used with a TV set on.
C. They can't correct the wrong order made by mistake.
D. They must hold their smartphones after placing an order.

()64. According to the writer, Pie Tops II shoes are not a serious product, because ____.

- A. they depend on smartphones
B. users must use the Pie Tops II app
C. they are just a marketing stunt
D. they just show your love for pizzas

()65. The writer calls on the readers to consider the question "____".

- A. Are Pie Tops II shoes too expensive?
B. Do you really need Pie Tops II shoes?
C. Did Pizza Hut bring customers high tech?
D. Did Pizza Hut invent new ways to order pizzas?

第二节 阅读下面短文，从短文后所给的五个选项中选出能填入短文空白处的最佳选项，使短文通顺、连贯，意思完整。(每小题 1 分，满分 5 分)
