Dear Mr Blair:

My name is Wang Ming from Hangzhou No.3 Middle School. I hear that you are selecting excellent students from our school to study in your school for a month. I'd like to have this chance. Here is my brief introduction.

I'm a 15-year-old boy who is easy-going and getting along quite well with my classmates because I have no problem communicating with others. In addition, good living habits help me live happily even by myself.

I'm interested in English and do really well in this language learning. Computer science is my favorite subject at school, so I'm good at operating computer in many ways.

At school, I often organize after-class activities and offer my help to those in trouble. I always try my best to finish the tasks given by teachers and the class in time.

I really hope I can join you.

Yours sincerely,

Wang Ming

M: Well, I'm just thinking of climbing mountains.

W: Climbing mountains? Oh, you'll be tired and not feeling like doing anything after a day's climbing.

M: Maybe, but I don't mind that. I can enjoy beautiful scenery and the fresh air while climbing..

听下面一段独白，回答第 12 至第 15 四个小题。

Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to the King of the Hill Race. Today, you will see some of the strongest players in the world. They will try to cross a lake, go through a forest, and climb an icy mountain. To win the race, they must be the first to reach the top of the mountain and plant their flag.

At the start of the race, these players must cross the lake in a small boat. But there is a catch. They must cross the lake in pairs. Each boat must take two players across the lake. So they must work together to decide who goes with whom. This part of the race takes not only strength and boating skills, but teamwork and people skills as well.

When they reach the other side of the lake, they are then on their own to go through the forest. The forest is dark and thick, so it is easy to get lost.

Once they reach the other side of the forest, they must climb the mountain. As they get close to the top, rock will turn into snow and snow will turn into ice. At the top of the mountain, to win the race, they must plant a flag that can be seen from below. Each person has a special color flag. When we see the flag, we will know who is the new King of the Hill.
